

BSU and Phi Beta Sigma hopeful for rematch

RENWICK FEAGIN
Spectrum Staff Writer

Tomorrow, the two-year consecutive champion Black Student Union basketball team will go for three against the two-year consecutive losing team, Phi Beta Sigma fraternity.

The rematch will hopefully take place if both teams advance to the finals again in this year's annual basketball competition. The event will take place in Clark Gym, South Campus, at 2 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Settling a score

Boastful remarks and comments stemmed from both sides regarding Saturday's results.

Lance Brown, Phi Beta Sigma graduate member, claims that last year it (the game) was a fair game, but Phi Beta Sigma wasn't 100 percent prepared.

"This year, however, we're better prepared to meet the challenge," Brown confirmed. He added that BSU has an unfair advantage because they can select any player to represent them in the game while Phi Beta Sigma can only choose from a limited pool.

Duane Goldsmith, Phi Beta Sigma secretary and team player, reminisced on last year's game, in which BSU beat them by a combined total of 10 points. Goldsmith said he believes the players who played that year weren't anyone that he had seen in a BSU general meeting.

Regarding Brown's and Goldsmith's statements, Robert Roache, BSU's Extended Executive Board Chairman replied, "In regards to BSU grabbing players

ing results for BSU...again!"

Darren Dubose, dean of Phi Beta Sigma local chapter, said boldly, "We refuse to lose this year; we've lost two years in a row already."

Paul Henderson, BSU member and team player, boasted, "It's going to be the same as last year," he said. "They lost badly; the score indicated how the game went. I, myself, contributed key shots in that basketball game which changed a tie in the game, last year. In order for them to win this Saturday they had better find some NBA players and dress them up," Henderson said.

Clayton "Nasty-African" Steen, president of Phi Beta Sigma Iota chapter, talked differently. "Being that this is my last semester here at UB and I've grown wary of hearing the BSU members talk like they can play with the Baddest Frat from east to west, in fact, everywhere...this year my chapter will put an end to all this confusion."

Conflict of interest?

Martin Roache, Phi Beta Sigma member and BSU treasurer, seems to be caught up in the dilemma of deciding whom to root for.

"Being that I'm a member of both BSU and Phi Beta Sigma, I'll have to remain neutral. Only I'll know who I'll be rooting for this Saturday," he said smiling.

A BSU member who wishes to use the pseudonym "Soup" sees a different outcome for this Saturday's game. Soup claims that "just like the last two games, Blue Phi [Phi Beta Sigma] will come up a loser once again...they're not big enough, strong enough nor fast enough!"

"In order for them to win this Saturday they had better find some NBA players and dress them up."

Paul Henderson
BSU member

"I've grown wary of hearing the BSU members talk like they can play with the Baddest Frat from east to west, in fact, everywhere...this year my chapter will put an end to all this confusion."

Clayton "Nasty-African" Steen
President
Phi Beta Sigma Iota chapter

from anywhere, we had basketball team tryouts for our team, and people came to us. We had a coach, a team captain and people to pick the players."

Arnold Wadley, BSU president, said, "In regards to the BSU and Phi Beta Sigma basketball competition this Saturday, I'm confident that the efforts in preparation by the members of Phi Beta Sigma will continue to produce gratify-