1	The Black People's Library has volunteered manpower to help the city eradicate "condemned and dilapidated housing" in Buffalo's inner city.
1 1/2	In a letter to Mayor Makowski and 10 of the city's 15 councilmen, Hugh E. Bassette, supervisor of the group, said:
2	"Since the major reason for the housing blight seems to be a lack of manpower, we can provide individuals who are willing to volunteer their time in the inspection process as well as helping to locate absentee landlords."
2 1/2	The Library is operated by the Black Student Union and Third World Veterans Alliance from the State University of Buffalo. It works on community projects year-round and has a community-based storefront during the summer.
