

9, GORDON STREET,
GORDON SQUARE. W.C.

May 12. 1913

Dear Mr. Hill
I am not going to make excuse for my shameful slackness it is not one to say there are other to pleasant case given but get might in to court - I need not enter it was because I was not very particular for the photograph, offered - and returned - of which time I can prefer the sealed case - though ~~and~~ don't deserve to have either.
I do hope you will have turned your corner for the time the day approaches - we ought to be married in Spring though a body I knew who had tried all the seasons recommended winter & I suppose for couple will find Summer 'over there'.
I have been writing polite replies the "little human brain" & certainly have not missed late. as the time which the friends & people also have done big things themselves can find such kind things as say of my little ones. I am now "Charlotte" to Mr. Saffro (Dawson) & largely appreciate my new acquaintance because the children in her home - a delightful girl of 14 also does the house keeping & dressing & the mother to leave her free for literary work - a boy of 10 & a regular Footpad same fears ginger - I wish I am not allowed ^{to see} much of them. I am already ill. ~~when~~ you came to town of a children's party with Mr. O'Keefe (née Millard, 29th St. N. W. - the N.W. - the mother was with me sleeping shift so I am fighting it all myself.

9, GORDON STREET,
GORDON SQUARE. W.C.

with the selfish revolution to put business & domestic care absolutely behind me for a time. I have a shield to stand as Salazar to see new people ~~also~~ which invitation I do to the 'English woman' things & as surely Miss Sharp (also I ~~now~~ think for me) & Edwin Noble have their picture show.
There is probably some about having to work & be out to send in anywhere - but I feel in rather keenly.
with love, & ^{with & telea} remembrance to your men.

Yours ~~penitently~~
penitently
Charlotte New

Reproductions from the Charlotte Mew Digital Collection are provided courtesy of the University at Buffalo Libraries.

Preferred Citation:

[Title], Digital Collections - University at Buffalo Libraries, accessed [date accessed], [URL].